Property owners can list a rental on FlipKey for $1.99 per month until the end of this year. This price represents a significant savings since many other rental sites charge hundreds of dollars per year.

"We're excited to enhance FlipKey and TripAdvisor with rental by owner listings and to create new opportunities for owners and renters," said TJ Mahony, CEO of FlipKey. "We're offering information travelers can trust with innovative research tools, such as verified rental reviews, making us the best resource available to find the ideal rental property."

More Options and Information for Renters

Complementing more than 80,000 professionally managed listings, thousands more lodging options will soon be available to travelers with the addition of new owner listings on flipkey.com. The addition of these properties will allow travelers who prefer to book directly with owners the option to do so - as owners can sometimes provide more flexibility on pricing and dates, and offer intimate knowledge of property details. To ensure travelers are confident when booking a rental property, FlipKey has a verification process for all owners and property managers and indicates whether rentals are professionally or privately managed.

More Opportunities and Income for Owners

For people with a second property, renting to vacationers is a great way to increase monthly income in these challenging economic times. Whether it's a sprawling beach house in the Florida Keys or a modest two bedroom condo in Lake Tahoe, listing the property on FlipKey will expose it to millions of potential renters.
